ABOUT ME

I am a dedicated IT professional with a one-year diploma in Information Technology from the Institute of Science and Technical Education, Islamabad. Currently, I'm doing my graduation in computer science. While I may not have formal work experience, I have accumulated several years of practical experience through personal projects and hands-on training. My strong foundation in IT concepts and programming, coupled with my passion for continuous learning, positions me to contribute effectively to innovative tech initiatives. I am eager to apply my skills in a professional setting and collaborate with a dynamic team.

EDUCATION

mernstack web development, Nexusberry, lahore
2024

I recently completed a 7-month MERN stack diploma from Nexusberry Institute, where I gained hands-on experience in developing dynamic web applications. My training included in-depth knowledge of MongoDB, Express.js, React, and Node.js, equipping me with the skills to build efficient and scalable solutions. I'm passionate about leveraging technology to create innovative applications and am eager to contribute to exciting projects in the tech industry.
